

Subscription mechanism as a provider

We are going to clarify how to subscribe to provider's service and how to review your customers' accounts easily. But let us first explain more precisely what a provider means.

Who is the provider?

A provider is a trader with a real account at Caveo and has the desire to share his transactions and trades with other traders to gain a performance percentage of their profits.

The provider's account details, as well as trades results will be displayed to customers with transparency yet maintain his private data. On the other hand, provider can read out his followers' accounts where he can see many statistical information that helps him take more accurate decisions.

Caveo customers
